Dear Sirs/Ladies

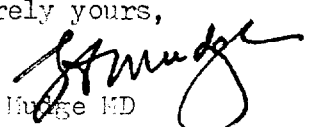

I would greatly appreciate it if you would forward the enclosed request to some one within the University who would be able to answer my questions. Many thanks for your help.

I am interested pursuing a project in medical history with particular reference to the history of acid-base balance, a subject in which most of the major developments have occurred within the past 75 years. One of the most distinguished workers in this field was Dr. Donald D. VanSlyke, who for many years was a member of the Rockefeller Institute. He died several years ago and I have most of the obituaries that were published.

I am trying to find a speech which he gave to a "clinical" audience sometime around 1925. I say "clinical" advisedly since I do not have a firm reference. I have most if not all of the relevant reprints that Dr. Van Slyke published during that time in the J. Biol. Chem. However, I do not have a complete list of his publications. Hastings' obituary, which was in the J. Biol. Chem., published only 20 or so. I do not need his complete bibliography but would appreciate it if you could send me a list of his publications from about 1922 to about 1930. I think that I will be able to find what I want in that manner.

Many thanks for any assistance that you may be able to provide.

Very sincerely yours,

Gilbert H. Mudge MD

My dear Dr. Mudge -

Here is what I dug out of our library computer -
I just did that myself. Let me know if you don't find what you want and we'll look further.

Best wishes
